Learn to use QuickBooks in your small business

Class is April 9 in Pine River

Would you like to learn how to keep your financial records like a pro? On Monday, April 9, Jay Bock will present a seminar on QuickBooks Pro Accounting for Windows.

Bock is experienced at teaching QuickBooks for Central Lakes College as a Computerizing Small Business instructor. This basic skills seminar will be presented at the Pine River Central Lakes College Outreach site from 5-8 p.m. There is a $70 cost to attend.

Goals for the seminar include learning the basic skills necessary to implement computerized accounting using QuickBooks Pro for Windows. The attendee will learn the basics of system setup including file creation, setting preferences and a customized chart of accounts. Transaction inputs will then be detailed including: invoicing, deposits, accounts receivable, accounts payable and cash disbursements. He will include at least 30 minutes for questions.

Space is limited, so pre-registration is necessary. You can bring your own laptop with QuickBooks installed to ask specialized questions about your particular business accounting situation.

Please pre-register for the seminar by calling 218-947-7523 or emailing at cass.edc@co.cass.mn.us. Materials will be provided at the seminar. The seminar is sponsored by the Cass County Economic Development Corporation (EDC).
