Computer Center offers training

Free classes provided for five more weeks

The Computer Center in Pine River project is nearing the end with five more weeks left of free training. The grant was designed to help small businesses and to introduce potential students to the CLC outreach Center in Pine River. Almost 100 participants have taken advantage of this opportunity so far and the following schedule will be offered until Aug. 16.

Tuesday nights at the lab is "YouTube Video editing and posting." This will be good for small businesses wanting to use YouTube for free exposure on the Internet.

Thursday nights at the lab is "Computer Basics" This is for the new user. How to use the Internet and set up a free email account.

MS Office Excel will be repeated on Thursday, July 12 and 17. This very popular workshop will teach you how to create a spreadsheet and do basic math in Excel. You will learn how to create formulas, format data, and learn how to make the switch to Excel 2010 from earlier versions.

All seminars will run from 5-8 p.m. To register or request a special seminar for your business call 218-947-7523 or visit cass.edc@co.cass.mn.us. Space is limited and Aug. 16 will be the last date for free training. The Computer Center is located at 980 1st Street North in Pine River - just north of the high school.

This project was sponsored by TDF Foundation through a grant to the Cass County Economic Development Corporation (EDC). The EDC is a local non-profit corporation supported by Cass County, local members and service contracts. Their website is www.casscountyedc.com.
